FOR CONGRESS,

Hon. J. W. LEFTWICH.

FOR STATE SENATOR,

Hon. JOHN W. SMITH, of Shelby.

FOR REPRESENTATIVES,

Honorable DAN. ABLE,

Honorable W. W. COLEMAN.

FOR FLOATER.

GENERAL PHILLIP B. GLENN,

OF FAYETTE COUNTY.

Public Speaking in the Seventh Congressional District.

The undersigned, candidates for Congress, will address the people of the Seventh Congressional District at the following times and places, viz.:

Stevenson's Mill, Weakley county, Wednesday, July 24.

Como, Henry County, Thursday, July 25.

ISAAC R. HAWKINS,
WM. P. CALDWELL.

The taxable property of Illinois for 1866 is $441,000,000.

In Atlanta, Georgia, new flour sells at $6 50 a barrel.

The receipts from Internal revenue Friday were $818,444.

The census of the Cherokee nation amounts to only 18,156, a falling off of 20,000.

A cable was laid across the Ohio at Cairo, Thursday, perfecting telegraphic communication with Memphis.

A newly formed colored regiment paraded through the streets of Baltimore on Friday night.

The raft Nonpareil, which left New York June 4th, arrived at Southampton, England, July 24.

Colonel William N. Bilbo, a noted Radical of Nashville, was lying at the point of death in that city, Saturday.

The match for $2,500 between Dexter and Brown George and Mate, at Providence, R. I., Friday, was won by Dexter in three straight heats. Time: 2:20¼, 2:22¼, and 2:22¼.

A tape worm fifty-seven feet long has been taken out of the stomach of a Rochester man. The man is reported in good spirits, and so is the worm.

A negro highwayman, belonging to a band which has been operating in Princess Anne county, Virginia, has been killed by a colored man whom he attempted to rob.

Samuel B. Meader, a well known arsenic manufacturer, died at Boston, Monday morning, from the effects of the poison infused into his system by long employment in manufacturing the same.

In the New York Constitutional Convention, Friday, the clause of suffrage report disfranchising persons who had been engaged in the rebellion against the United States was struck out.

Dr. N. M. Sneed, of Savannah, (formerly of Memphis, Tennessee,) has had left to him by a personal friend, recently deceased in Scotland, the comfortable sum of twenty thousand pounds sterling.

At Nagasaki a Japanese officer being rudely jostled by an Englishman, and struck on the head with a cane, drew his sword and stabbed the offender in the neck and back, inflicting a mortal wound.

A two mile foot race for $200 a side was run on Long Island, on Monday of last week, between two celebrated pedestrians named Powers and Kemble. The latter made the two miles and won the race in 9:22, and Powers covered the distance in 9:38½.

The Judiciary Committee of the House were instructed at the recent session to investigate if Kentucky, Maryland and Delaware have republican forms of government. In order to accomplish the work incident to the investigation, the committee has been divided into three sub-committees, each having a State in charge.

A huge laundry has been established in Paris, which employs three hundred persons, and washes forty thousand pieces of soiled clothing from the principal hotels every day. The clothing is boiled with soap and soda, washed in hollow wheels, dried by centrifugal machines and in hot air ovens, and is finally ironed between polished rollers.

There is much caution shown by capitalists and business men in London, the feeling having become general that war between France and Prussia is imminent. A private dispatch from Berlin, received on the 26th, makes mention of a general opinion there that war is certain, and adds that Prussia is actively urging forward her preparations for such an event.

A month ago, Mr. Rufus Lord, the victim in the celebrated Lord bond robbery, received from an unknown source $1,400,000 of the bonds that have been stolen. It has now been ascertained that they were sent to him through the firm of James G. King Sons, from the London bankers, Baring Brothers, who received them from the guilty party. Who that party is remains at present a secret with the English lawyer.

An old man named Elias Jones was shot by his son at Peoria, Wabcska county, Iowa, on Tuesday morning last. The father told the boy to feed the horses, when he refused and words followed, until the boy drew a pistol and shot his father in the left side. The cause of the affair is supposed to be the fact that the old man had deeded his property to his sons, provided that they would take care of him until he died, and thus they connived at his death.

The Lake Providence (Louisiana) Record of the 18th says: "On Monday last, about three p.m., Herman Stein, an old citizen of this place, was stabbed and almost instantly killed by Dr. W. L. DeFrance. The knife entered his body at nine different places. Justice McCarroll caused DeFrance to be legally arrested; but, to the surprise of the community and the disappointment of all law abiding citizens, he made his escape during the night and is now at large."

A Washington correspondent says: "M. De Stoeckel, the Russian Minister, is rather taken back by a demand presented to Congress by the widow of Captain Perkins, that $385,281, with several years interest, be retained from the $7,200,000 to be paid for Alaska. Captain Parkins was induced by M. De Stoeckel to enter into a contract, in 1856, with Captain Lillanfeldt to supply the Russian Government with arms and powder, but when peace was declared, Russia declined to pay the bills. The Captain proved his claim while living, and now the widow renews it."

TELLING SPEECH OF GENERAL BLAIR IN KNOXVILLE.

A Federal Soldier vs. Radicalism.

The Main Points.

On Wednesday night, says the Knoxville Free Press, the largest crowd that ever congregated at night in Knoxville, assembled to hear General Frank P. Blair, of Missouri. They met not simply to pay their tribute to one of the most gallant leaders of the Union army in the late war, but also to manifest their indorsement of the course he so most eloquently and ably advocates. The speaking took place at the Lamar House, from a stand prepared for the purpose. General Blair being introduced, spoke substantially as follows:

FRIENDS AND FELLOW CITIZENS: I thank you very kindly for the unmerited honor you have conferred upon me. After the very complimentary remarks of my friend, who has done me the honor to introduce me, I feel that you will be disappointed in what I have to say. I come to address a people accustomed, aforetime, to liberty—a people celebrated for their loyalty—whose devotion to their country has been sealed by the best blood of their fellows. I speak to a people that has felt the hardships of war. It is no wish of mine to add more to the troubles already endured by this people. God knows we have had war and bloodshed enough. We have passed through a gigantic and terrible struggle. It was the struggle on the one hand of a brave and chivalrous yet misguided people to overthrow the Government. The result we all know. The Government was victorious. A surrender according to the rules of war occurred. The insurgents laid down their arms, and under the permission of the Government were allowed to return to their homes. So far as I know that faith and parole have been kept inviolate. The history of the world furnishes not a more striking instance of submission to the terms of conquest. It is not my purpose to tear open anew the healing, yet unhealed, wounds of the rebellion. It is the duty of all good citizens to discard the bitter feelings engendered by the war, and it is a little less than criminal in those who seek to keep alive the spirit of hate.

A Republican Government was established in America more than eighty years ago. We have waged wars with several of the great nations of the earth which have shaken the whole of Europe. We, as infant colonies, withstood the shock of war with England, while her dominion and commerce extended around the world. More recently our flag was planted in triumph over the capitol of a sister republic—Mexico.

Lately we have seen almost one-half of our own country arrayed against the other half. Europe predicted the overthrow of our republic. The rebels were recognized as belligerents by the great European powers, but the rebellion went down; it could not resist the force of the Union army anywhere, and with greater victory yet to achieve over passion and animosity; we must make conquest of passion and let reason rule if we are to have a free government. Some men are easily led away by the cry of danger from the rebels after the rebels have been whipped and disarmed, and say you must do this or you must do that to save the Government from rebels. And while thus engaged your constitution and laws are torn down and trampled under foot. These things are done for individual aggrandizement, and it is ridiculous to say that the Government is in danger from disarmed rebels. Did we not cope with them when in arms? Are they dangerous now without organization and without a head? They have submitted and we disgrace ourselves by pretending to be afraid of their power. It is nothing but the absurd, ridiculous pretext; the deceitful cry of the demagogue; it is an insult to our citizens and to our soldiers to be told that an armed people, who have been overthrown in battle are now dangerous to free government.

We should entertain feelings of magnaninity towards a fallen foe. This trouble was brought upon the country by thirty years of bad teaching upon the subject of State Rights, to the effect that it was disgraceful to have them trampled under foot, and Governor Brownlow has been most active in stirring up this spirit. He even went out of your State to Philadelphia to deliver some most violent appeals and harrangues in favor of the divinity of slavery, which doctrines have been received by your young men, and they have gone out to fight upon this mistaken notion of honor. Their homes were made desolate; they were defeated and are now back, some without an arm and some minus a leg, have come home to their fathers as prisoners of war, asking the protection promised them when they surrendered. And now they are met with the cry of vengeance from their Old Leader, Governor Brownlow.

In justice to him it may be said that he recoiled at his own work. He misled them and should be blamed for refusing to forgive them for doing his work. I blame him and I blame any one in his situation not to forgive when the enemy is in their hands. But instead of that he is doing such acts and propagating such measures as will inevitably lead to dissensions, and perhaps war, and the peace of your community is disturbed forever. Your most beautiful valleys, your majestic rivers fenced with perpetual stone, even more beautiful than the happy valley of Racenas, must be sorely afflicted with an unceasing turmoil, and there is no help for it so long as this mischief-making party is in power. Capital and enterprise will not come here so long as you are ruled by the pistol, the knife, and wild passions kept alive for personal motives. Will strangers come here and mix with hateful malignant passion which is sought to break up the very fountains of social life, and which are enough to destroy it? No! good citizens will try to heal up the bad passions of war, but I see here a new element thrown into your politics in the shape of colored voters, brought in by simple act of your Radical Legislature, in plain violation of your State Constitution, which only authorizes white males over the age of twenty-one years to vote. Yes, in this way they can vote to keep Brownlow and the Radicals in power, but the negro is by the same Radicals prevented from holding office. The negro was once used by Brownlow to work in his kitchen as a slave, now they are slaves to him in the capacity of freedmen voters, tied up hand and foot by vicious oaths in secret Leagues to do his work. [A voice—"His dirty work."] Yes! it would be impossible to work for Brownlow without doing dirty work. [Vociferous laughter.] In these negro leagues some means will be used to buy their advice and speeches, a spirit of animosity against the white race, taking advantage of their ignorance in such a manner that we cannot have hardly a single public meeting without a disturbance from them, and blood is the result. The whites desire to be free as well as the blacks, and want the undisturbed right of free discussion, and they will have it, cost what it may. I repeat I have no ill feeling toward the colored man. I was before the war an emancipationist. I freed my slaves in the State of Missouri, as the records of St. Louis county show. I held to the doctrine that the State of Missouri had the right and ought to free her slaves. Now since, as a result of the late war the slaves are free, I do not wish to see them enslave the white race. This is the dangerous thing for the black people to engage in. Your blacks are enfranchised—your whites disfranchised; the one by unconstitutional legislative action, the other by an ex post facto law, the unconstitutional bill of attainder, punishing in such a manner as was not contemplated by law at the time the act was committed. The negro can vote for Brownlow, but can't hold office under him.

Should the negro take a notion to vote for Etheridge instead of Brownlow, then we may expect the Governor to fall back where he was in his Pryne debate. How does it look to an intelligent and virtuous people to see such demagogues using the ignorance of the negro to degrade the white race here in our midst? Here in Tennessee, you have thousands and tens of thousands of whites disfranchised, and negroes substituted for them at the ballot box, and the negro is thus used to enslave the white race, and this is what you gained by the war, if the Radical policy is carried out. The negro is deluded onward with the promise, by these Radicals, that if he continues to support their party, they will give him forty acres of the rebel confiscated lands. They, in Mississippi, on or before a certain Christmas, were confidently expecting their forty acre tracts of land, but that Christmas came and went, and no land, and thus it will ever be; and I say to the colored man here to-night, if you want the land, you go to work and buy it, for that is the only way you will ever get it. Don't be the tools and dupes of these bad men any longer. The whites naturally like whites the best, and hence I prefer my own race. The black loves black. Negroes don't give way lands to whites, neither will the whites give their lands to the negroes, and this is all a demigogical appeal for power. What is the result? The Radicals array the blacks in hostile leagues, and the white people band themselves together against them, when all that is wanted by the Radicals is the offices. I pity the white man and I pity the black. There has been good feeling among them. Where once was kindness there is now festering and hatred between them, and it is all traceable to these evil leagues, which are trampling upon the liberties of the white race. You know it! I know it, and Brownlow knows it, too. I have none of that feeling. I never went to Philadelphia to tell the people that the negro was only fit to be a slave, and that success in the North would ruin Brownlow and all marching under his banner. I am free to confess that I love my race better than any other race, my family in preference to that of my neighbor, or stranger. Every one does this. He who cares not for his household is worse than an infidel. My record shows that I have never said anything against the black people, but I do not want them to put the white race under their feet. The two races, (as Brownlow lately said in one of his messages to your Legislature,) ought to be separated for the sake of the peace of the country. While they are among us, such political tricksters as Brownlow and kindred demagogues will never cease to make trouble. I think the great Creator of the universe understood more of our natural characteristics than these Radicals know. [Laughter.] In the temperate zone, the white race predominates; in the tropical regions, the colored races prevail. In an evil hour some extreme Northern men brought from Africa the black man, and sold him here to serve us, and he has served us faithfully for about three hundred years. We, as a nation are responsible for it. These friends of the black people sold them to their Southern brethren, and then took up the idea that slavery was a sin, and that they must free them. I often think that this devastation South, this universal grief that has visited almost every hearth-stone in our beloved land is only a punishment sent upon us by Providence for the sin of slavery. Now, we have the same trouble we had when he was in slavery, which is likely to lead to another war, unless this Government provide him a country of his own on this continent. There the colored man can vote and make his own laws, and receive the protection of the American flag. That will be the correct solution of the problem. We can give him Florida, for instance, or some portion of Mexico or Cuba. Let us buy some country adapted to them. Such a country is generally fatal to white men. There blacks will have no Brownlow's to make them furious against their neighbors. There they can vote and hold office as they may choose. I would not force him to go there, but make a matter of choice and to his interest.

Then they will cease to be tools for this Brownlow or that Brownlow. There are more Brownlow's than one in this country. More such brave and terrific soldiers as Horace Maynard of this district! Such soldiers and patriots as he and Brownlow, who spent most of their time upon many bloody fields in "God's Country" during the war! We have some Brownlow's and Maynard's in Missouri; Rebels in the beginning, but through the influence of the bayonet converted to Radicals, and now want the negroes and the military to rule the land. Now, my friends, thanking you for your kindness, I must conclude and go to Loudon to fill an appointment. I hope the day is dawning when Tennessee's ancient liberty shall reappear. But without free discussion, and unless you can meet and ask redress for such great political outrages without interference from political opponents, you have no hope of freedom, and the dark night of despotism is upon the majority of your white people who were once free. If Brownlow can thus cut off one class, in the same way he can cut off his other white opponents, and thus leave the State Government in the sole possession of himself and his colored brethren.

Since arriving in your city I have met many men, distinguished officers in the Union army from Northern States, and many native Tennessee colonels and captains, etc., and they are all Conservatives. They waged war for the Union with arms, while such soldiers as Maynard and Brownlow waged war for the Union with leagues in the Northern States.

[Our report of General Blair's speech is, of course, imperfect, and does not do full justice to the speaker.]

FROM OUR CANADA CORRESPONDENT

SOUTHERN RELIEF IN CANADA.

Benefit at the Theater Royal, Montreal

Jefferson Davis Present—He is Enthusiastically Received.

ST. LAWRENCE HALL, MONTREAL, July 20.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: A few weeks ago Captain J. G. Ryan arrived in this city from the South, in behalf of the widows and orphans of the Southern States. He met a cordial reception from the citizens as soon as his mission was made public. As a natural consequence, he sought out all ex-Confederates, and had the pleasure of meeting ex-President Davis and several members of the Howell family; also, General Carroll, of Tennessee, and Colonel J. M. Vernon, formerly of New Orleans. These latter gentleman gave him all assistance in their power to further his charitable mission, and, in fact to them he gives the credit of the results which this article will mention. His own position as an editor gave him the prestige of that profession, and all the journals of the city, with the exception of an evening one, called the Witness, a Yankee organ, gave him full support. On his arrival it was his intention to give a lecture on the situation of the Southern States, but he gave up when the managers of the Theater Royal volunteered to give a benefit in behalf of those sufferers whom he represents. The entertainment took place last Thursday evening. Mr. Harvey Bawtree, an amateur of great ability, kindly volunteered his services as "O'Callaghan" in "His Last Legs," Colonel Jay was "The Rivals." The occasion was one seldom witnessed, and will never be forgotten here. When the curtain rose the house was crowded by a fashionable assemblage. About the second act of "The Rivals" it was discovered that President Davis was present. Like a flash the news spread all over the house, and the vast concourse simultaneously arose and gave three hearty cheers for him, to which he responded with a bow. Again burst forth loud cheers and hurrahs, hats were tossed in the air; ladies waved their handkerchiefs, and the name of our illustrious guest was heard long and long from pit to dome, and this was continued until he again bowed his acknowledgements; then the cry "Dixie," "Dixie," "Dixie," echoed and re-echoed until the orchestra sounded forth that air so sacred to Southerners. Intense excitement prevailed, and when the orchestra ceased, the enthusiastic audience gave vent to a fresh burst of applause. Such an unanimous tribute of esteem never greeted a favorite monarch as that expressed for Mr. Davis.

At the conclusion of the first play, Captain Ryan appeared on the stage and returnd his thanks to the assemblage for their kind patronage of those in whose behalf he was acting, and concluded by wishing "success, prosperity and perpetuation to the Dominion of Canada," and retired amid great applause.

When the performance was over the crowd collected outside, and when Mr. Davis appeared, three hearty cheers for him rang out upon the midnight air, and sounded after him as his carriage disappeared. Such a display of enthusiasm I never witnessed, and the impression was often heard, "I wish England had recognized the South, and saved her from her present degradation, and her gallant hero from exile." The sympathy of these people is strongly with the South. The benefit was a success.

Captain Ryan will visit all the principal places in the Dominion. Lady Don, whose star brightly shines in the theatrical galaxy, will give him a benefit for the same purpose at Toronto, before she leaves for a tour South.

The prospect is that Captain Ryan will be able to make a good report from this country. The bishops of the several churches have highly indorsed his praiseworthy endeavors in behalf of the sufferers of his country.

A Negro Outrage.

From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

We have the particulars of an outrage, which of late has been somewhat prevalent, the ravishing of a white woman by a negro. The crime was committed about twelve miles up the Big Sandy river, and the victim is a Mrs. Riley, a respectable married woman. The brute watched the husband leave home, and she had no protection. She, however, resisted to the utmost, and was finally knocked down senseless, when he committed the diabolical act. The wretch is identified as one Allen Hanson, a fugitive from Western Virginia, where it is alleged he committed a similar crime about five weeks ago.

A man answering the description of the ravisher has been arrested by deputy sheriff G. W. Castle, at Louisia, Kentucky, twelve miles from the scene of the outrage. Mrs. Riley has been sent for to identify him, and if he proves the villian, the excitement is so intense that he will have but a short shrift.

A fatal shooting affray occurred at Frankfort, Kentucky, Wednesday, between Allen Bridgeford and Mr. Nichols, in which Nichols was shot so badly that he died in a short time. Bridgeford's leg had to be amputated, and he was otherwise so severely injured that there is very little prospect of his recovery.

TUESDAY, ... JULY. 30, 1867

WHEN we observed the appearance, during the past week, of the miserable creature who heads the Metropolitan Police in the new role of an apparent honest and zealous pacificator, we knew then it was all gammon, and that time would soon disclose him a treacherous recreant to every profession he published, and the low and sneaking antagonist at the election of every desire for order that he so lavishly printed to the public. We knew he was up to some deep laid villainy, and our anticipations were on yesterday realised. Sheriff WINTERS, at the earnest solicitation of a large number of the most respectable citizens of Shelby county issued a call for a posse comitatus of fifteen hundred men, to aid in preserving the peace on the day of election. These citizens were actuated by a patriotic purpose to prevent an apprehended riot, as was also the Sheriff by his affirmative response to their call upon him. It is immaterial to the discussion of the atrocity of BEAUMONT'S "special notice," which may be found in the new advertisements column of the Bulletin of yesterday, that the Sheriff has, in pursuance of legal advice, concluded to obey the request of the County Commissioners issued to the effect that he disperse said posse. The infamy of the publication of the Superintendent of the Metropolitan Police is what should be considered, the shameless confessions of its author; the insulting menaces which he hurls at four fifths of the white population; the impudent association of himself with an officer of high rank in the United States army, like Major General THOMAS; his contemptible effort to create the impression that the United States troops are to be under his command, to awe and threaten the Conservative voter, and to give license for the abuse of the franchise by the blacks—all these details of his riotous and insurrectionary publication, which he gives to the public under the significant caption of "Special Notice," are what has arrested the public eye and caused the people to wonder that the peace preacher of last week is the riotous incendiary of this. For weeks the city has been alarmed by reports of the nightly drill of negroes upon its suburbs, for some hostile and threatening purpose. It turns out now that BEAUMONT has cowardly and clandestinely introduced three hundred stand of arms, with the necessary ammunition, furnished by BROWNLOW, into the city of Memphis. He says himself that he has, and menaces an officer of the law and the public with their use upon him and them if that officer of the law attempts any exercise of his authority to preserve the peace, or if that public should go to that officer's aid in the preservation of the peace. Who are these muskets to arm, if not the black incendiaries, who are nightly drilling within our limits? BEAUMONT himself says they are to be used by three hundred discharged Union soldiers. Where, within the limits of Shelby county, but among the discharged negro soldiers could he get three hundred of the late Union soldiers to bear arms for him? He could not get fifty. The startling fact is then presented that this high official, this conservator of the public peace, this man who says no other high peace official than himself shall have anything to do with preserving the same, and that no posse comitatus of good citizens shall aid in doing so, has clandestinely introduced three hundred stand of arms and ammunition to be placed in the hands of three hundred negro soldiers to excite the apprehension of the white voter, and to stimulate the arrogant and aggressive spirit of the black aspirant for the franchise. If it does not mean this what does it mean? As for BEAUMONT'S indecent effort to resurrect the spirit of the recent war, by a vulgar parade of General THOMAS' military exploits, and his reference to the "boys in blue," it is worthy of as ill bred a creature and as despicable a mercenary. The Confederate soldiers can treat with contempt the jeers of one of their former comrades who basely deserted them. A daily compounder of felonies with notorious violators of the law; the hero of the "Dying Carpenter or the Stolen Tool Chest," can indulge in no reflections upon the gallant soldiers of the late Confederacy which can provoke their resentment or excite any thing but their scorn. We intended to say something with reference to Sheriff WINTERS' commendatory course in this whole matter, but will content ourselves with calling the attention of our readers to his own vindication, which will be found in our local column.

As friends of peace and good order, we entreat all who love thier country, and desire that the right of suffrage shall be preserved, unstained by such acts as are only resorted to by the desperate and unprincipled, to cast their ballots quietly, and without noise and confusion. The right has nothing to fear from moderation. We can only learn in this experience of a new order of things, by abiding the result. What we have preached let us practice—what we have promised, let us do.

NEGROES! COLORED VOTERS! Do you not know that the Northern people are responsible for slavery? Do you not know that the Northern States once owned slaves? Do you not know that the Northern people were engaged in the slave trade? Do you not know that when they found slavery unprofitable in their bleak and sterile hills, they sold their slaves to the men of the South, and built factories with the proceeds? Do you not know that much of the Northern wealth was made from the importation and sale of slaves? Have you forgotten that slaves were transported South and sold to our people? Do you suppose the Northern people would have abolished slavery if slave labor had been profitable to them? Our colored population is also mistaken in supposing that the war was commenced to free the negro. On the contrary, the North would have guaranteed perpetual slavery during the first three years of the war, if the rebels had laid down their arms. These are pertinent questions. The negro seems impressed with the belief that the war was inaugurated for his freedom, and that the Northern people always opposed slavery, when the truth is, as BROWNLOW shows in his debate with PRYNE, that the Northern people had a clause inserted in our present Federal Constitution extending the slave trade down to the year 1808, thus giving themselves twenty years more in which to spread and deepen the "hated institution," and to wear their ships to the very water's edge in this lucrative trade. The negro will live to learn these facts, and to find out who is his real friend. He will soon see that a Radical is a diminutive, a meager faced chap, who peeks stealthily into other people's business, and is great only on smelling committees. He is a legitimate descendant of the meddling, persecuting Puritans, who whipped people for kissing their wives on Sunday, penned the turkey cocks that they should not vainglariously strut, burnt women at the stake, and hung Quakers for opinion's sake.

IF YOU want the Indemnity bill passed, which will tax you millions of dollars to fill the pockets of bankrupts and swindlers, vote the Radical ticket. If you are opposed to the Indemnity bill—to being robbed of your hard earnings for the benefit of perjurers and mendicants—vote for ETHERIDGE and the Conservative ticket.

ONLY two more days until the election, and it is the duty of every Conservative to devote those two days to our great and glorious cause. We would again impress every individual member of our party with a sense of the extreme importance of active, incessant and systematic effort until the polls are closed on Thursday evening. The Radicals are confident of success, and have abandoned themselves to ridiculous demonstrations of delight. Let not the Conservatives be dismayed. The uncertainty of the result, and the momentous issues involved, is surely enough to inspire them with the gravest apprehensions, but it should also inspire them with zeal and energy; a firm and united determination to cast a solid vote for our glorious cause. Once more we invoke our friends to falter not in the good work, but press on untiringly until a splendid victory shall have been won. Let us all resolve to leave nothing undone. The duty of all is plain, and should be conscientiously discharged. Will any Conservative betray his country and his party in this hour of their utmost need? At the setting of the sun on Thursday, let every Conservative feel that he has done his duty toward securing a splendid victory for the principles of equality, justice, the Constitution, and the peace, prosperity and happiness of the country.

THE Election will be held the day after to-morrow. We most earnestly invoke the Conservative people to be resolute and firm. Let every holder of a certificate, knowing himself to be entitled to vote, attend the polls in his Ward, and use all due diligence in seeing his vote deposited. Let him see that his neighbors vote.

WE can listen to no croakers now. The struggle is between liberty and oppression. The man who has a vote, and will not cast it, should remember in the trying hour, that "he who is not for us is against us."

THE MILITIA IN THE FIELD!

John Williams Silenced at Taxewell.

Maynard and his Negroes Still at Work.

How the Freedom of Speech is Protected.

Let the People Read.

We have to record to-day says the Knoxville Free Press of Sunday, the boldest and most deliberate outrage yet perpetrated by the militia. On Thursday Mr. Etheridge and John Williams were at Taxewell to fulfil their appointment. A company or part of a company of militia, was there under the charge of Lieutenant Ellis, who assured them that they would not be molested, provided they were not personally abusive of the militia. The time for speaking came on. Maynard, of course, was again on hand playing his dirty vocation. About two-thirds of the people, some seven or eight hundred in number, repaired to the Conservative stand and listened attentively and profitably to Mr. Etheridge. He met with no serious interruption. Meanwhile Maynard, in his true role, was haranguing about one-third of the crowd—two-thirds of whom were of his own dingy hue—about two hundred yards distant.

At the conclusion of Etheridge's speech John Williams took the stand, and began his speech. He had spoken, however, not more than fifteen or twenty minutes before he was interrupted by two or three of the militia, who were in the crowd evidently for the purpose of provoking a difficulty, with such remarks as "that's a lie," "that's a d—n lie," "that's another d—n lie," and other coarse and grossly insulting remarks. Mr. Williams asked them to keep quiet, to listen to the evidence and they would see whether he was telling lies or not. The disturbers were noticed to make their way out of the crowd, and repair to the place where Maynard was still speaking. In a very few minutes some fourteen or fifteen of the militia, fully armed, came from Maynard's stand, marched down and filed around in front of Williams and within ten or twelve feet of the stand. They brought their guns to a "shoulder," when one of the party exclaimed, "By G—d, we want you to know that we are Brownlow men." "I presume you are," said Williams, and undertook to proceed with his remarks, but he found this impossible; for no sooner had he opened, than he was told that he must stop his "d—n rebel lies," that he was "telling a pack of d—n lies," that he must "dry up," etc. Williams manifested no disposition to yield the stand, but they told him that he should not proceed unless he would speak "the truth." They didn't intend to hear any more "d—n rebel lies." A number of citizens, apprehensive of blood shed and shocked at so bold and infamous an outrage upon the freedom of speech, advised Colonel Williams to desist from any further attempt to be heard. Such conduct they said was a more powerful speech in his behalf than any he could make. Colonel Williams acceded to the request of his friends, and thus closed one of the most disgraceful scenes ever witnessed in the once free State of Tennessee. The facts, as given, we have derived from a source worthy of full credit. We learned them from a gallant and distinguished Union officer who was present and witnessed the whole proceeding.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, July 29.

Official private accounts from Tennessee represent danger of outbreaks or riots all over the State at Thursday's election. The Government has, for some days past, been maturing such measures as will procure peace. Gen. Thomas telegraphed the President to-day for all the forces in Kentucky, though he believes he will be able with other troops at his command, to prevent riots at Memphis, Nashville, and other large towns. He will go to Memphis to-morrow.

Generals Tappnig and Sanborn, Commissioners under recent act of Congress, to make peace with the Indians, have arrived in this city, and reported to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. These gentlemen leave immediately for the Indian country.

The United States steamer Oneida arrived at St. Vincent, June 20, and would sail for Rio Janeiro, July 1.

District Attorney Carrington occupied the entire day in concluding his argument for the prosecution in Surratt's case.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, July 29.

A base ball match came off to-day between the Nationals of Washington and Atlantics of Chicago The former was victorious, scoring 73 to 17.

RICHMOND.

RICHMOND, July 29.

Governor Pierpont was assaulted this morning at the Executive mansion, by a Mrs. Driscoll, who was immediately arrested. The assault was made because the Governor had pardoned a man convicted of killing her son. The Governor was not injured.

NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, July 29.

Governor Flanders returned to the city last evening.

The mortuary report for last week shows five deaths from yellow fever and seventeen from cholera.

The weather continues cloudy, with occasional showers.

General Berrozabel is having the earthworks around Matamoras levelled and the ditches filled up. Fort Calligio, commanding the road from Brownsville, is already gone. Nine more forts are to be razed. These works were built by the French and General Mejia.

LOUISVILLE.

LOUISVILLE, July 29.

River falling. Three and a half feet in the canal.

FOREIGN.

PARIS, July 29.

The Moniteur this morning declares the rumors of war which now prevail on the continent as without foundation; says the existing relations of France and European powers are eminently peaceful; denies that the formation of new military corps is contemplated, and says reserves of artillery and cavalry horses are to be sold to farmers in the Departments.

LONDON, July 29.

The sincerity of the Moniteur's denials of the war rumors now current in Europe, is doubted here.

The Times' city article of to-day is of opinion that the alarm created by these warlike rumors will have the effect of checking trade generally until next spring.

VIENNA, July 29.

It is denied that the Hungarian National Guards are to be reorganized. Several meetings with that object have lately been held, but no action has been taken.

ETHERIDGE AND MAYNARD.

A Correct Version of the Affair at Greenville.

From the Greenville National Union.]

We are sorry to learn that a personal rencontre occurred between Messrs. Etheridge and Maynard on Monday evening last, at the East Tennessee House, in this place. It seems that they have been for some time personally unfriendly on account of false charges made by the latter against the private character of the former. Since these were made, they have not spoken to each other. Maynard though positively refused any division of time for this and another good reason, to wit: that Mr. Etheridge could not grant it and reach his appointments, has nevertheless been dogging his footsteps everywhere, by fraud and force, taking possession of his stands, and in every possible manner aggravating and insulting him.

Exasperated beyond endurance, and having forborne till in his mind "forbearance ceased to be a virtue," Mr. Etheridge, as he stepped into the hotel was met by Maynard with "how are you Etheridge?" haughtily and sneeringly expressed. Etheridge turning to him inquired "Did you speak to me?" Maynard answered, "I did." "Well," said Etheridge "haven't I told you I don't want you to speak to me? I don't talk with such d——d rascals as you." "I do," Maynard replied, "that's the reason I speak to you." The rejoinder was a couple of quick blows upon his head and shoulders with an umbrella, Etheridge had in his hands, and Maynard was about to put a rejoinder which would doubtless have brought on a general engagement, but friends interposed and they were separated.

GROVER & BAKER'S

CELEBRATED

ELASTIC STITCH & LOCK STITCH

SEWING MACHINES

Why the Grover & Baker Machine is Best.

1. It is more simple, durable, and less liable to derangements than others.
2. It sews from ordinary spools, and no rewinding of thread is necessary.
3. It sews with equal facility all fabrics, the most delicate and braided, and with all kinds of thread, cotton or linen.
4. Its seam is as strong and elastic that it never breaks, even on the rims.
5. It fastens both ends of the seam by its own operation.
6. Its seam, though alike on both sides, is as firm on one as the other, and will not ravel if a thread is cut.
7. Its seam is more pliable and beautiful, and retains its pliableness and beauty after washing better than any other.
8. Its seam can be remounted in altering garments, after proper instruction, with no more labor or care than required in new work.
9. Watching and piecing the tension upon the threads necessary in other machines is unnecessary in this. The tension being once adjusted on the Grover & Baker machine, any amount of sewing may be done without change.
10. It makes a beautiful embroidery without any change of arrangement, simply by inserting threads of extra size and colors for this purpose. It is the only machine that will embroider and sews perfectly.

A Card.

JOHN CANNAVAN, in order to gain some little public notoriety has been occupying some valuable space in the Memphis AVALANCHE for the past two days, publishing cards about some ten thousand dollars in notes, which he exchanged on a trip to Chicago.

He wants to make it appear that he executed three notes to a certain firm for over three thousand dollars—one for ten thousand dollars and two for five thousand dollars each.

I wish him to understand distinctly that I have not the misfortune to hold twenty thousand dollars of his notes. I have not enough to hold ten thousand dollars of his worthless paper, in two notes of five thousand dollars each, for this gentleman to hold up to public gaze.

It seems he wants the public to believe that his notes are very valuable, and wants me to show what I considered my capital stock in the Chicago Union Bank, and if I refused he publicly cried his notes sale.

I will say that I have not deeming your notes worthless, I would not present them in payment of any amount; and that the stock which I own in the Union Bank, Mechanics' Bank of National Bank, and Germania National bank, I have paid for in currency and not in worthless notes.

I decline making any further notice of any foolish and nonsensical cards emanating from the head of

TO THOMAS BARRETT.

IN regard to your evasive and scandalous publication in yesterday's AVALANCHE, will you explain whether or not you received my proposition to go to ten thousand dollars, and afterwards raised my two notes of five thousand dollars each, for the sole consideration if not, on what other consideration? and why you did not surrender to me the note of ten thousand dollars, if with that in addition to cash from you, your statement will explain all matters, if correctable.

Also, what you deposited as your capital stock in the City Union Bank, and whether said notes were not deposited as part of your capital stock.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

THE GREAT POPULARITY OF THE

CHARTER OAK COOKING STOVES

HAS led some unprincipled manufacturers to imitate the design and name. All these imitations are inferior and badly constructed stoves, but so nearly do some of them resemble the original in external appearance as to deceive the unwary. A few instances have come to my notice of purchasers of these imitations, supposing they were buying the genuine article. I therefore warn the public that I shall promptly prosecute every person, whether dealer or manufacturer, who shall infringe on my rights by imitating, or using the name or design of the

SECOND DRAWING

OF THE

SOUTHERN ASYLUM LAND CO.

TO BE HELD

AT HERNANDO, MISS, AUGUST, 1867

THE FIRST DRAWING, which took place at Hernando Miss., on the 16th instant, was attended with unusual success, and it is pronounced ideal in a few words. From the inception of the enterprise to the present, seventeen thousand dollars worth of tickets having been sold, a like amount of property was drawn for, under the supervision of gentlemen selected by the ticket holders present. The utmost harmony and good feeling pervaded throughout, and no jarring note from the subjoined certificate of the managers, the affair was conducted to a close in a most gratifying manner to all concerned:

HERNANDO, MISS., June 15, 1867.

We hereby certify, that the above report of he first drawing of the Southern Asylum is correct, and that the proceedings were characterized by a spirit of fairness and justness unsurpassed by any drawing of which we have any knowledge. The entire management of the Company places the interests of ticket holders in safe hands, and we feel confident that our sole management and control.

The prizes drawn on this occasion numbered forty seven, and comprised lots in the vicinity of Memphis, Tenn., Corinth, Miss., and Hernando, Miss., some to which have been made to the lucky ticket holders. For this, the second Drawing, however, we are able to offer our patrons still more attractive inducements to signal themselves in our schemes. From a lengthy list of property, much of which has already been advertised to the public, we select the following as our MUNICIPAL COURT.—Stands adjourned until Friday next. A habeas corpus case came up before Judge Waldron, on application for release from arrest. The prisoner, —— Watson, alias Stewart, was arrested in our city by some New Orleans officers, who hold a requisition for him from the Governor of Louisiana, and who are now awaiting proper authority from Governor Brownlow to send him back to New Orleans for trial. The prisoner, who is in himself the worst, in charge with committing a burglary of a jewelry store in New Orleans, and abstracting goods valued at $50,000. He was arrested in that city, with his two accomplices, but escaped by breaking jail, and is now awaiting authority from our Governor to send him back as above mentioned. Judge Waldron, after hearing the testimony, very properly remanded him to jail without bail, in order to give the officers time to procure the proper papers. The case will be called up again next Friday, at ten o'clock a.m.

CRIMINAL COURT.—The case of B. H. Lynch, indictment for embezzlement, was called up for trial on yesterday. A jury was obtained and the evidence for the prosecution introduced, which test mony closed last evening. The evidence for the defence will commence this morning. For the first time since the passage of the act by the Legislature, a juror was challenged for cause, on the ground that he was not a registered voter, which ground of challenge was sustained by the court. The introduction of the practice, so far as our courts are concerned, was General William son, who, with Colonel Coleman, conducts the defence. General Sale, in the absence of General Wallace, is acting as Attorney General pro. tem. It will be recollected that the prisoner, Lynch, in July, 1866, was in the employment of the Southern Express company as a deliverer of express goods; he disappeared from the city and was charged by the company with having failed to account for some $600, collected by him on C. O. D. packages. He was arrested in St. Louis, brought back, and is now on trial for that offence. The case will probably close to-day.

FANNY THURSTON LECTURES.—The lectures which have been in course of delivery in this city for the benefit of the widows and orphans of Confederate soldiers at the Tabernacle, will be suspended until Tuesday evening, September 10th, when a brilliant series will be opened by our gallant fellow townsman, Colonel George Gantt. The entertainments which the young ladies and gentlemen have been kind enough to get up for the same noble charity, and which have proven so successful and popular, will still be continued, but at greater intervals than heretofore. The next entertainment will be offered Tuesday evening the 11th of August, when a splendid programme, naming some of our best talent, will be presented. JOHN S. KERR,
Chairman Lecture Committee.

A CARD FROM SHERIFF WINTERS.

He Demolishes Beaumont.

The Sheriff Recalls his Order for a Posse.

To the People of Shelby County:

The Superintendent of the Metropolitan Police of the city of Memphis having announced through the public press that there was a "feverish state of anxiety" in the public mind with regard to the maintenance of public order on the day of election; the leaders of the two great political parties having considered the apprehension of sufficient importance to call for joint action to request a uniform line of policy as to the conduct of voters, to which the said Superintendent yielded his approval; the authorities having also procured the attendance of a regiment of United States regulars to assist the civil authorities in maintaining order and executing the laws; and a large number of property holders whose acquaintance with our people, whose interests in the prosperity and welfare of our city and county was well known, and whose public character entitled their suggestions and views to respect, having requested me to appoint fifteen hundred men, I did announce that it was my purpose and intent to so do, and requested the co-operation of all police and peace officers of the county.

I notice this morning in the Bulletin an incendiary and scurrilous article from Mr. Beaumont, under the form of an address or order, which is an attempt to attack me and cripple my efforts to maintain public order. The Superintendent says, "Just at a time when the community begins to breathe freely, the sheriff of the county is seized with the panic, and orders his deputies to summon fifteen hundred men to aid him in preserving order on the day of election," and then proceeds to discuss the law, and by special pleading comes to the conclusion that the Sheriff of the county is powerless to summon the "power of the county" or "posse comitatus" to maintain peace, enforce the law and preserve public order.

As to my "unblushing affrontery," or incapacity to comprehend Beaumont's orders or course, I simply state I think, in common with all good men of Memphis, I understand him, and he will find the people do.

The Superintendent says there will be three hundred discharged Union soldiers, "boys in blue" and asks if I propose to disperse them. Oh! no. No man knows better than Beaumont that no such thing was thought of. He seeks to hide his "coat of gray" behind the "boys in blue."

I intend to have a force of fifteen hundred men summoned to maintain peace and public order, and enforce the laws on the day of election, and to "disperse all opposing forces" and by opposing forces I mean just what the law means, forces which oppose a just execution of the laws; which oppose the right of all registered voters to vote, back or shoot.

I would advise the "boys in blue" to keep a sharp lookout on this self-constituted leader; for if he serves them as he did the "boys in gray," he will turn his back on them and desert them; but as there will be no danger or disorder if incendiary leaders like Beaumont are not listened to, there will be no further chance for him to distinguish himself in this respect.

It is true Zollicoffer did not capture opposing forces, nor Bragg, nor Hood; but they were men of war, backed up by Beaumont himself. I have nothing to do with the military condition, and do not propose to excite the people, if I could do so, by any such inflammatory remarks.

I advise all good men to go to the polls and maintain public order; to avoid excitement of all character, and to see that no violation of law takes place, and I will co-operate with the police of this district in accomplishing this purpose, as well as aiding in enforcing such orders as they are especially charged with.

The Superintendent makes a fling at my nationality, by calling me a Patrick. It is true I am a foreigner by birth, but am an American citizen, and claim to be one among the well disposed to my country, and yield to none, native or adopted, in my devotion or fidelity to it. No charge has ever been made against me, since my induction to office, of being the known patron of thieves or housebreakers. I rather aspire to the character of a preserver of the public peace, a duty devolving on me by force of my office.

I submit to an impartial public whether the spirit of Col. Beaumont's letter is not of an incendiary character in the extreme; and if, in his article, he has not sought to throw a fire-brand in the community—to stir up the worst passions, and to prepare the way for those fearful scenes which he pretends to deprecate, and which, as a sworn officer, he is bound to suppress.

Let an impartial public judge between us.

P. M. WINTERS, Sheriff Shelby County.

Since the above was written, I have received the following:

BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.
MEMPHIS, TENN., July 29, 1867.

Resolved by the Board of County Commissioners of Shelby County, That in our opinion it is unnecessary and injudicious for the Sheriff to call out any force of citizens of Shelby county on election day, and while we fully appreciate the patriotic and humane intentions of Sheriff P. M. Winters, we respectfully ask him to revoke the order he has issued for a posse of fifteen hundred men, to be called out on that day; and, whereas, it is the opinion of this Board that the causes for which the said posse of fifteen hundred men have been or is about to be raised, has passed away.

Therefore be it Ordered, That, the Sheriff's order summoning said posse be immediately revoked, and said force hereby be disbanded forthwith.

Witness my hand and seal of office, at office in Memphis, this 29th July, 1867.

JOHN LOAGUE, Clerk.

I obey the order of the constituted authority, and revoke my previous order, and direct the disbandment of said force of fifteen hundred men, in obedience to the above order. I bow with respect to the law. P. M. WINTERS,
Sheriff Shelby County.

MEMPHIS WELL REPRESENTED AT WASHINGTON.

Some folks say that the Register of Bankruptcy for this district has been appointed. Perhaps he has not been. A gentleman recently from Washington says he has been. We think it aint so. All sorts of rumors are afloat. Probably most of them are false or unreliable. It is said that Mr. J. B. Bingham was pressing the claims of Channing Richards, Esq., and that he and Mr. Tomeny left Washington together. It is also surmised that if Richards got the place Tomeny would appoint Bingham Deputy United States Marshal, and share with him the profits, and new printing arrangements be made, and Mr. Wills be Surveyor of the port, and all go along nicely. Bets were even offered that Bingham had secured the place for Richards and brought on the information, but Perkins and Latham and Griffin and others, at Washington, after the fat place of Register of Bankruptcy, sent word that Chase was at Saratoga and wouldn't be back until yesterday morning, and consequently the story about Mr. Richards having got the place was unfounded.

It is suspected that it was a canard about Bingham having been offered his pick of the foreign missions, and saying, "No, most noble Secretary, I want no place that will tear me from Memphis, and those I love dearly, and send me far over the briny sea—e—e."

Some folks say that Mr. Bingham, since his return, has expressed the opinion that Latham may get the place of Register of Bankruptcy. May be he has done so. May be he has not.

Hepburn, early in the race, broke down, and was led off the track. He couldn't understand what influence was butting against him. Peebles grew feeble, and dropped droopily behind. Perkins trots along, but it is not certain whether he is now in the race or not. He is supposed to be carrying weight for a friend. Thorne made a splendid dash for a little way, but when it came out that Eaton was riding him his defeat was considered a sure thing. Somebody sent on from Memphis the most cunning statements of Eaton's antecedents, and his chance of getting a good thing, by pressing Thorne's appointment on party grounds, was gone.

BEAUMONT'S INSOLENT SPECIAL NOTICE.

An Effort to Get Up a Row.

The topic of conversation in all circles yesterday was Beaumont's "special notice." There was everywhere an almost unanimous condemnation of its tone, its braggadocio, its insolence, its mischievous purpose. Thirty old and responsible property holders—men having deeply at heart the honor and welfare of Memphis—were fearful that Beaumont's arrangements were not sufficient to guarantee perfect security from all rioting and equal justice at the polls to both parties; so they asked sheriff Winters to call out a strong force to insure quiet. Sheriff Winters assented, and then addressed a note to Beaumont proposing co-operation.

In response to this act of courtesy, Beaumont, with vulgar insolence, which no less than his pusillanimity when courage is needed, forms a marked feature of his character, responds that he had done great things toward preserving peace; that he only had power to suppress riotous conduct; that stupid Winters—even he should know this; that it was effrontery in Winters to propose co-operation to keep the peace, as only Beaumont is responsible, that if Sheriff Winters persists he will have to fight it ree hundred Springfield rifles with bayonets, got recently from Gov. Brownlow, and to be placed in the hands of three hundred Union soldiers, that these soldiers, with Springfield rifles with bayonets will support the three hundred Metropolitan Police, and be backed by eight hundred United States regulars under Gen. Thomas, who defeated Zollicoffer at Mill Springs, Bragg at Murfreesboro, and Hood at Nashville, and is now likely to be beaten by sheriff Winters and his forces, at whose loyalty Beaumont sneers.

Many persons considered the call of the Sheriff for fifteen hundred men unnecessary, or the number large, but no one justified Beaumont's special notice. All considered it calculated to excite bad feelings, to intensify animosities tending to bring on a riot, an ill-bred slur at Sheriff Winters, an unjust fling at the great majority of the people of Memphis.

The general impression seemed to be that by ill Beaumont wishes to convince General Thomas that there is a purpose of ex Confederates to resist the enforcement of the Franchise act, and thus induce General Thomas to give to him entire management at the polls, and the backing of the United States military, and then Beaumont can fix the election to suit his partisan purposes.

The general wish is that General Thomas may proclaim martial law and take the whole control of the election, as this will secure fairness. Everybody knows that Beaumont is a shallow, pompous, good natured fellow, without either brains or courage. Every citizen of Memphis knows that there is not and has not been any intention of ex-Confederates to resist the enforcement of the law on the day of election. They and other citizens have protested against the violence of Radical harangues, the efforts to excite the worst passions of the blacks, and the shameless bringing of blacks here from Mississippi and Arkansas for registration, but they have neither threatened nor contemplated violence or any illegality. They have even been extreme in their desire for quiet. The Radical organ has ridiculed the Conservative anticipations of difficulty on election day, and it was Conservatives who desired and procured the promise of United States forces to insure quiet. Beaumont wishes now to get the control, and writes his "Special Notice" to prejudice General Thomas against the people of Memphis. If General Thomas is the man we believe him to be, he will give this fellow a sitting down for the benefit of those he seeks to awaken old hostilities and to push General Thomas before himself into them. He will tell him that no gentleman would address another publicly in official as he did, sheriff Winters. He will tell him that his response to Sheriff Winters' proposal for co-operation was boorish. He will tell him that stirring up old hostilities is a violation of his sworn duty as Police Commissioner. He will tell him that United States soldiers do not need to be told their duty by a renegade, who was a noisy secessionist for a long time, and then, to avoid fighting, sent a substitute into the rebel army, whilst he retired and became a cotton speculator and a Radical. He will tell him that commendations of courage or honor, to be prized, should come from those who have sustained reputations themselves. He will tell him, in the words of a cotemporary, "there is no reason why two conservators of the peace should not meet and make arrangements for harmonizing and uniting their respective forces—in which event the larger the number of the organization the better."

RIVER NEWS.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
TUESDAY, July 30, 1867.

BUSINESS—WEATHER—RIVERS.

The rains have ceased and dry weather has, we hope, set in—at least, we want no more such rains as those in the past four days. Business was dull on the landing yesterday, except in front of the Belle Memphis, where freight was hustled about in a lively manner. At this point the river continues to decline. At St. Louis the river is on a stand, and at St. Paul it is declining. The Ohio is low and boats have to lighten to get over. The Arkansas is high, and was rising rapidly when the Celeste came out. The pilots of the Rowena report White river falling, but with a fair stage to Jacksonport.

ARRIVALS.

Steamer W. R. Arthur, St. Louis.
" Henry Ames, New Orleans.
" Mollie Hambleton, St. Francis river.
" Belle Memphis, St. Louis.
" H. M. Shreve, Vicksburg.
" Celeste, Arkansas river.
" Rowena, White river.
" Commerce, St. Louis.
" Luminary, St. Louis.
" City of Alton, St. Louis.

MISCELLANEOUS.

We had a tremendous fall of rain on Sunday morning, about daylight, and another almost as heavy during the day. Yesterday was one of the most agreeable days of the season. Business, however, was dull, and but few boats were at the landing. The river is falling slowly here, and at a stand at St. Louis. The Arkansas is high and still rising. White river is falling.

We had the pleasure yesterday of seeing our friend, Captain Shirley, who has been superintending his crops, with a fine prospect for cotton. He did not pay much attention to corn, believing that grain would rule low, while the great staple would advance. He will commence operations in a couple of weeks to prepare for shipping in the Evansville and New Orleans trade, in which he will place a boat of first rate capacity and speed. Thoroughly understanding his business, there is no doubt of his success.

The Commercial resumes her place to-day in the White river trade, and will run as she has done for so many months, as the regular Tuesday packet. Her few days of rest have had a wonderful effect, and prove conclusively that steamers can be put in as complete repair at Memphis as at any other port. Captains Davis and Ashford have shown that they believe in patronizing their own city, and will assuredly reap their reward. The "old reliable" is very beautiful in her coat of glossy white. Her carpets are elegant in design and very fine, while her new and luxurious spring mattresses will compare with those of any floating palace. All her bedding is new; in fact, she is a prompt, accurate and reliable," as she ever was, and has put on her best "bib and tucker" to vie with the great Rowena. Captain Ashford, the popular gentleman and careful officer, continues in command. In her office will be found Captain Morton and Charley Withers, both well known on White river. The Rowena will go out on Saturday hereafter, thus giving our friends on White river and in the bends below two packets per week, and such packets as they may well feel proud of.

The Mollie Hambleton, Captain Bowman, will leave for St. Francis river to-day. Captain Tom Day is at her clerk.

The Lady, Captain Ward, will leave for St. Francis river at five p.m. to-day. Mr. Ward is clerk.

The Fairy Queen has, we learn, made her last trip to the upper waters of White river. She comes hitherward for repairs and renovation, when she will again return to her old trade.

The Lady Gay, Captain Burke, will leave for New Orleans at five p.m. The Lady Gay is a fine steamer and will go through on time.

Among the arrivals yesterd y from the upper country were our attentive wharfmaster, Captain Steve Wilkins, who has been on a tour of pleasure for the past few weeks, Captain George O. Hart, of the St. Charles, John Sullivan, formerly of the Commercial, and Billy Jones. All the above named gentlemen are in good health.

The swift and popular packet City of Alton is in port, and will leave for Cairo and St. Louis to-day at five p.m. Captain Sam McPheeters is her commander, and Mr. McCreight is clerk. No pleasanter boat floats than the Alton.

The splendid low pressure packet, Great Republic, will be in port, to leave to day at 2 p. m. for Cairo and St. Louis. She is known everywhere as the queen of the Western waters. Capt. Donaldson and Messrs. Dravo and Barr, are her officers, and better could not man a steamer.

Capt. De Haven has received the following indorsement from the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce:

Capt. D. De Haven:

The undersigned citizens of St. Louis, having examined your drawings and plans, and heard your explanation of them, for the application of low pressure machinery to the navigation of the waters of the Mississippi river, with appliances and arrangements for improved speed, comfort, and economy, more particularly your plans for preventing explosions, and for handling freights by machinery, desire to express to you our interest in and indorsement of your project. We think your enterprise deserves encouragement, the complete success, and we hope may more generally be placed before the public.

Major Sweeney, who jumped overboard at Floyd Smith's on the Arkansas, was evidently insane. From a letter found floating on the water, he, it seems, was laboring under the notion that he would be assassinated the next night by some negro.

A few days ago, near South Bend, on the Arkansas, as Mr. Thomas and wife were descending that stream, his craft ran against a snag, which caused the boat to capsize. Mr. Thomas saved himself to shore, but Mrs. Thomas floated down the river a considerable distance, crying for help, when she sank to rise no more.

At Louisville, the Courier says, the Captains' Benevolent Association held their regular meeting at their hall Saturday evening. Owing to the restricted state of navigation freights south were announced for the present week, as follows: Pound lots 10c per hundred over former rates. Pork and whisky advanced 25c per barrel; and potatoes, onions, etc., taken at 90c per barrel. All other articles enhanced in the same ratio. The Tennessee river packet line committee held an informal meeting Saturday morning, and have concluded to guarantee two boats in the Tennessee river trade, and extended their labors by agreeing to sustain a good light draught boat in the Louisville and White river trade. Along the lower Ohio, the packets on Saturday reported Flint Island the shoalest point, with but a little over four feet on the bar, though four and a half was reported by the officers of the Morning Star. She came in and went out again on time Saturday.

The Louisville Courier says: While at the foundry of Davies & Co., yesterday, viewing the process of boring out the cylinders for the new boat Belle Lee, building for Captain McGill, we were shown a monster lathe where in course of construction at this famous foundry for the Ohio Falls iron works at New Albany. It was made, or cast, in sections, or segments, and all complete weighs the enormous amount of 65,000 pounds. This is hard to beat or equal anywhere. Its diameter is 25 feet. At the same foundry which is full of activity and work, we saw a most beautiful balance valve engine of some 500 horse power, a most admirable piece of work, which was built expressly to drive the ponderous machine of the Ohio Falls iron works.

The St. Louis Democrat of Saturday says: Heavy rains Thursday and last evening swelled the river falls. The only effect anticipated of these late down pours, as far as concerns navigation, is that low water will be set back, but set back only a little—for a day or two. But the fall in the land is glorious and immediate. Weather yesterday still hotter than before. Departures few. Arrivals fair in number, and most of them loaded to their fullest capacity, and last evening the upper rivers steadily increasing. It is supposed the Illinois, above Peoria is even lower than reported, as a boat and barge were aground and had not arrived last evening from Peoria, over due two days.

Captain John T. Washington, Agent of the Atlantic and Mississippi Steamship line at Cairo, comes out in a card of thanks to the people of doing business on the company's wharf-boat at that point. The wharf-boat pays over $2,200 per year for the right of lying at the landing, taxes, etc., and accepts as an accommodation to the packets we can see but very few privileges it enjoys.

LINES

Affectionately dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Williamson, Jr., on the death of their infant daughter, "Mamie Belle."

There's an empty crib, and a vacant place,
A flower has faded in life's wall filled vase,
In beauty's bloom;
And we sadly miss a sweet, cherub face,
And a form full of life and winning grace,
For 'tis hid in the depths of the silent tomb.

There's a half soiled dress, and a half worn shoe;
Toys, ribbons, and jewels that meet our view—
Which she wore.
She has gone, our darling, left papa and mow,
To dwell with the angels so holy and pure,
To green pas, whom called for, at Heaven's own door.

There's joy and music in Heaven to-night,
And a spirit is there clothed in spotless white,
With a golden crown;
She is chanting sweet praises, for the soul is bright.
And the spirit is now an angel of light,
Not sleeping with death, in her new made mound.

Yes, there's joy in Heaven, holy anthems awaking,
For the entrance of one so pure and so young—
Mamie's there!
And a hain o'er her spirit is flung.
No more will her body be painfully wrung
With the torture which made her so heavenly fair.

Grieve no more, fond parents, o'er transient pain,
The form of your darling you'll meet again—
"All is well."
Keep your hearts from evil, from sin's dark stain,
Believe that earth's pleasures are worldly and vain,
And at the threshhold of Heaven you'll see Mamie Belle
"SISTER."

MEMPHIS, July 25, 1867.

AN ADDRESS

To the Colored Voters of Haywood County

COLORED BRETHREN: In a few days you will be called upon to exercise the right of suffrage, and in doing so, you should endeavor to heal the breach that exists between you and the white men of the South. But few of us are able to read and find out the truth for ourselves, and under the teachings of Radical leaders, many of you have been led astray. We should all look to our true friends for light and knowledge. The white men of the South have always been our friends; then let us help them, and show to the world that we are worthy of our freedom, and can appreciate our true friends. We all must live in peace and harmony, and we can only do so by lending a helping hand to our friends, who in days gone by helped us, and who, to-day, are willing to help us. Do not allow yourselves to be deceived any longer by the Radical leaders; do not let them make you believe you are better than white men, for you are not. They have been promising us forty acres of land for over two years, yet we have no land; they are willing for us to vote, but not to hold office; they are willing to see us pay taxes, but not to set upon juries when one of our own color is to be tried; they want all the offices and all the money; they have used up all the school fund, so there is nothing left for our children. When we build school houses, we have to call upon men to aid us who the Radicals say are our enemies. Do not these men always aid us? and, do not the Radicals refuse to do it, and tell us to hold on, that the Government will build us a good school house?

Colored friends, they have no confidence in us; when the hour of trial and danger comes, they will certainly desert you. How is it when a Conservative man is to speak? Do they not send out their leaders to tell us to stay away and not come, that if we do, they will put us back into slavery, or put us in jail? Yes, they are afraid for us to hear the truth. They have their "Loyal Leagues" to swear us to help to crush our own people. Will you do it? No, we are satisfied you will not. Come out of the "Loyal League," do not be afraid, no one will hurt you; our true friends and the Federal soldiers will protect you. Out here from the Radical party and let us help build up our already impoverished country. Do not be driven like cattle to the polls by Radical leaders, and made to vote for them to keep you and your friends down. Let us go to work in earnest and take the chains off our white friends that have been placed on them by Brownlow and his mercenary crew. Let us search for the truth; go to your old friends—they will read and explain to you why you are allowed all the privileges that Radicals claim for themselves. Yet these same Radicals say we are better than white men, but not as good as they are. You cannot find a Radical candidate for any office in the State who will make a canvass with his opponent, from Brownlow down to Sandy Moore, because they are afraid for us to hear the truth.

Come out, colored brethren, and let us rally around Etheridge (the black man's true friend) and the Conservative party, and we will yet be a happy and prosperous people. Stand by your old friends; do not try to pull them down. If you will trust them, they will never deceive you. Come out on Wednesday next to the great Conservative barbecue, and let us reason together. Be no longer deceived by the Conservatives are your true friends, and will protect you. Then rally, and let your watchword be, equal rights to all, Etheridge and the Conservative party.

Respectfully,

ALFRED CALDWELL,
WILLIAM SNYDER,
JAMES IVEY,
HENRY GAINES,
JOSEPH CONNER,
CHARLES ALLEN,

The Empress Eugenia Visits the Colorado.

Honors in Paris to Admiral Farragut.

Napoleon's Diplomacy in the Schleswig Question.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Havana dates report the loss, on the 12th, of the Spanish steamer Cindadano, from Havana for Sicily, with twenty-eight passengers and a crew of fifty-one. Only three passengers, ten marines and the boatswain have been heard of so far.

Santa Anna continues to be held as a prisoner. All is tranquil throughout the country.

The yellow fever is still in Havana. There were a hundred and twenty deaths out of seven hundred and fifty cases.

In Porto Rico confidence is rather shaken, finance and trade are paralyzed, and three hundred establishments were closed owing to their inability to support the new taxation.

The Venezuelan Government exposed the revolutionary plans instigated by General Mosquera, pretending love for the Colombia Confederation. Fifty thousand men are expected to arrive into the Venezuelan territory.

A Key West letter says the Havana submarine telegraph cable will be completed about the 4th of August.

CHERBOURG, July 28.—The Empress Eugenia, yesterday, visited the United States steamer Colorado, where she was received with all honors befitting her exalted rank. At her approach salutes were fired, yards manned, and the vessel gaily decorated with colors. All the other vessels in the harbor were also decorated with bunting, and the Empress was received by the Captain of the Colorado and officers, and was conducted through the various parts of the ship. At the conclusion of the inspection her Majesty expressed herself highly pleased and gratified with the appearance and warmth of her reception.

PARIS, July 28.—On Saturday evening Admiral Farragut was received at the State dinner by Napoleon, the French Minister of Marine, and other members of the Imperial Cabinet and Embassadors present. Mouthier denies the statement that Napoleon sent a note to the King of Prussia urging him to surrender the Danish District of Northern Schleswig to Denmark.

BERLIN, July 28.—Notwithstanding the official denial of the Moniteur that Napoleon had sent a note to the King of Prussia in regard to Schleswig, the official journal of Berlin continues to urge King William to repel the intrusion of the French Emperor in the political affairs of Germany.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 28.—The Emperor has issued a decree by which the whole territory lately conquered by the Russian forces in Central Africa, and under government, under command of General Kauffman.

LONDON, July 28—P.M.—There has been little rain in England within the last month. Weather dry.

Reported Visit of Victor Hugo to Paris.

The Courrier du Havre is informed that Victor Hugo was in Havre on July 3, having crossed the channel in the Southampton steamer. At ten o'clock, says the Courrier, the author of the Pince Napoleon III. left in company with his faithful friend and disciple, Auguste Vacquerie. The great poet appears to enjoy excellent health; his age, however, is quite apparent, and his beard is entirely white. Victor Hugo proceeded on the day of his arrival to Paris, where he witnessed the first performance of Hernani. Few persons, we are told, recognized the traveler attired in grey clothing, without decoration whatever, would have supposed that they were in such close proximity to the chief of the romantic school, the author of the brilliant embodiment. Nevertheless, although somewhat surprised at the unexpected visit, the whole theatre, from the parterre to the gallery, was transported.

MONETARY.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
TUESDAY, July 30, 1867.

The general market is dull as usual at the approach of the first of the month, and business is confined almost exclusively to the filling up of orders from the country, of which fair lists were brought in and distributed by the regular Arkansas packets. Money is scarce and stringent, and affairs at the banks are exceedingly dull. Exchange is dull at ¼@¾ per cent. premium for sight drafts on the North and East.

GOLD—Is in demand for shipment at 139¾ and scarce, with no inquiry for local purposes. It opened at 140¼ in New York, declined to 140, and is now quoted at 140¾.

SILVER—Is scarce, and dealers buy readily at 130@131 for halves and quarters. No sales reported.

City scrip is inactive but firm at 58c buying and 60c selling. Police scrip is neglected and nominal, dealers selling small amounts over the counter at 65c.

County scrip is dull at 75@78c buying and 80c selling. There is little demand, and offerings are rather on the increase.

We learn of no transactions in stocks or bonds, aside from a broker's purchase of United States Five-twenties, new series, at 108½.

TENNESSEE MONEY—Remains inactive, as previously quoted. Bank of Tennessee, old issue, 80c; bank of West Tennessee, 40c; bank of Chattanooga, 10c; bank of Middle Tennessee, 95c; City Bank, 60c; Merchant's Bank, 45c; Northern Bank, 80c; Ocoee Bank, 9c; Planters' Bank, 95c; Union Bank, 95c; Shelbyville Bank, 80c; Southern Bank, 20c; Traders' Bank, 95c.

COMMERCIAL.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
TUESDAY, July 30, 1867.

COTTON—The market was quiet, with a fair inquiry of good styles, of which there is now quite a scarcity. The receipts since Saturday were 124 bales; exports 15 bales. From the few sales reported we make the following quotations:

Good middling	28 @28½
Middling	24½@24¾
Low middling	21 @22
Good ordinary	21 @22
Ordinary	18½@20
